Synopsis

Highway Maintenance has never been so challenging! Hotter summers, colder winters, more intense rainfall and an ever older network means that using the same techniques and materials is no longer viable. At a time of depleting budgets it is too easy to assume that the cheapest option is the best solution. However, by using innovative solutions and a whole life costing approach you can build yourself out of a reactive repair system into a planned maintenance regime that uses the money more efficiently, making it last longer.

The day will start with Bob Noakes setting the scene by highlighting typical highway maintenance issues prior to a range of innovative materials and processes being presented by a number of leading UK highways specialists. Herbert Micallef & Transport for London's Lukash Manandhar will then showcase how these processes have been incorporated into the new TfL highways specification scheduled to be implemented into their brand new Highway Maintenance & Projects Framework from 2021.

The Training Day will provide delegates with the knowledge and confidence to choose specialist and innovative rehabilitations instead of traditional reactive repair techniques thus saving time, money and CO<sup>2</sup>.

Louise Taggart will deliver a very personal reflection on workplace safety and the consequences of getting it wrong. Louise was voted the Safety & Health Practitioner's "Most Influential Person In Health & Safety for 2018"
